There are some things I have learned in my recent past
That I'm excited to share with you tonight
And one thing I've realized is that we all want to leave
Behind a legacy

We all want to be remembered for something And then I was thinking going, how can I be remembered And then I suddenly realized you can do it on a daily Bases

Even if it?s one on one with people For example, the other day, I saw a young boy And he was eating an ice cream cone I ran up and I smashed it into his face

I leaned in, I go, you remember me forever and I ran away Cause you know when he's 50, he's gonna be like
One day a man ran up to me, I did not know this man
He smashed my treat into my eyes. And he pointed and said
"You fuckin remember me forever."?

But I did not say fuckin, I did not say that. He added fuckin to make the story more intense and Interesting.

He deserves to have ice cream smashed in his face, Cause he?s a lying 50 year old man. I did NOT say fuckin.