

Nothing Worth Saving

Dangerkids

I've been waiting for so long
For you to complicate me
And I can't bear to watch these scars
Turn into something breathing now
Could you be the one that saves me
From the nothing I've become?
Or if you're done...

Throw me away
Cause everything breaks
We're someone's mistakes
And I guess that nothing is changing
Help, I'm just not myself, I'm caving
You make me feel like I'm nothing worth saving

I've been waiting for so long
For you to come and break me
And I know it hurts to say goodbye
But it's worse to fade away
I'm sorry I could never save you
Or change the way I felt
You're somebody else

Have you ever felt lost? Do you hardly sleep?
I've you've ever said yes then permit me to speak
You know that every song starts with a single sound
And to fly, give it up if it weighs you down
And every now and then they try to bring me back
You're not using me, so get used to that Cause if you push me down, I'm gonna push you back
And that's that
