

Don't Write Me Off

Daniel Bedingfield

I see you and I have to turn my face-
This is how things must be now for me,
So sadly.
You tell me that I must take back my heart-
But I want you, I want you, I want you
So badly.
If I stay-
I'll be your lullaby.
If I go-
I'll be your friend for life.

Don't, don't write me off, just yet-
You might regret it.
Maybe I'm the one
To call you home-
To call your own.
So please, don't write me off,
Just yet.

Must have been something I did last night-
When I'm in over my head I act
So madly.
It took all my strength just not to hold you tight-
And the whole while I was losing you-
You had me.
Let me in-
And I will sing your heart.
Shut me out-
And I will stand beside you.

Don't, don't write me off, just yet-
You might regret it.
Maybe I'm the one
To call you home-
To call your own.
So please, don't write me off,
Just yet.

I know, what are you waiting for?
My heart is open, lustin' over you-
Over you, over you, yeah.
Let me in-
And I will sing your heart.
Shut me out-
And I will stand beside you.

Don't, don't write me off, just yet-
You might regret it.
Maybe I'm the one
To call you home-
To call your own.
So please, don't write me off,
Just yet.
