

Pain Is Inevitable

Daniel Caesar

Who runs the show
Who runs the show
Who runs the show
Who runs the show who hands out the suspensions
I need a lesson in mishap prevention
Young boy who can't hear must feel
A masochist you know the deal

I rarely listen, I forgot to mention
And I'm in need of a damn intervention
Young boy who can't hear must feel
A masochist you know the deal

Pain is inevitable
Misery's a choice
Pain is inevitable
Misery's a choice

Now I'm a product, that must turn a profit
Something to prove, I'm a god, I'm a prophet
Tryna be something that's real
Comes at a price, that's the deal

Against my better judgment
I agreed to something
Too deep to turn back
I'll deal with it in the afterlife
Young nigga done paid the price
Feels good to be nice

Pain is inevitable
Misery is a choice
Pain is inevitable
Misery's a choice

What if tonight Lucifer comes for you
Turns out your light, your light
I hope, you're right
Yeah
'Cause nobody wants to be
I don't wanna be alone for the rest of my life, baby
Alone for life, life
Maybe a little bit

So long, sweet boy
Oh, fuck
Baby, look what they did to me, baby
You, will be missed
Look what they did to me. I used to be so sweet
Sweet as candy, soft as a kiss

Smiling all the time
So long sweet boy
You, you will be missed
I used to be a child
Sweet as candy, soft as a kiss
I just wanna be a child again

So, don't pull the birds
I miss minor sense
I miss trusting people
I used to trust
Look what they did to me, baby