

Forever Your Love

Daniel Johnston

Wish I see everywhere
The love that's there is nowhere
Then I do declare
No matter what, and forever

Where there is always no kind of love
And never was no, never
Then you might think you see a glory there
It's shining there, so frightening

Forever your love it turns
Your love it turns away
Your brother and your sister there
Have long since gone away

And I see the setting sun
Like an atom bomb forever
And all the dead people there
Who thought they were so clever

Forever it seems to have taken
What they feared had entertained them
And now they'll see themselves in the past
As it came before them

Forever your love it turns
Your love it turns away
Your brother and your sister there
Have long since gone away

And now, one last time
Do you believe in the faithless?
Do you think that maybe
Your heart could stop the hatred?

Do you think that love can save you now
When it past the hour of repentance?
Oh the tears that you shall cry
Is over now, class dismissed

Forever your love it turns
Your love it turns away
Your brother and your sister there
Have long since gone away
