Polka Dot Rag

Daniel Johnston

You are the moon
You are the stars
I admire you from afar
And I have these feelings
Deep in my heart
Yesterday, today, and tomorrow
You and me baby
We got something going
You and me now baby
There's something here
How long can you dodge
There's so much feeling
Looking back now in retrospect
I was a fool but what the heck
Has anything happened before
Just like you'd have expected
You and me baby
We had something going
You and me now baby
There was something there
I didn't know how to act
When you looked at me like that
I didn't know how to look in your eyes, whoa
After all that I went on this long
Real suffering, pain, and self-abuse
I don't know why I did all those things
But I'm using you now as an excuse
You and me baby
We had something going
You and me now baby
There was something there
But you loved another
And now you're a mother
You'll always mean the sun and the moon
And the earth to me
And all of those feelings
Deep in my heart
Deeper than the sea.
