

Without Love

Daniel Johnston

You'll hate it if you have none
And your mommy and your daddy didn't give you some
And you're always on the run without love

Love
You'll regret it if you forgot
And you'll be all tied up in knots
If you can't share when there's no one there

If you don't have love
And all your deepest fears
And sorrows through the years
And there'll be no tears
No feelings for anyone

Without love
A mind is completely drained
Saddened by the falling rain
Stuck somewhere in time
And there's nothing there to find

Alone without love
Everyone's gone insane
And everything seems the same
As your life burns like a flame

Without love
You're hiding from each other
Not a word was spoken of it
And you're sinking in the mud and the crud

Without love
You'll never know yourself
And there just ain't no help
And hell for the children of the damned

Love is the sweetest of refrain
It'll wash away your pain
And you'll be able to understand
It's the greatest power in the land

Love will light the way for you
And you'll know just what to do
If you follow through to a better kind of way

If love could find you somehow
You'd be living in the now
And if you thought you loved someone
Then love may come to you

Love could be with you all your life
And you just didn't realize
Till you open up your eyes
And see that love was there all along

Love
It never really ends

And love could be your friend
Remember that love is heaven-sent
And love is for everyone
