

Brave

Daniel Powter

You run from shadows, you shelter from a storm
You hide from thunder, can you take it anymore?
Maybe there's a battle, but you don't give up for war
You walk through a fire, it was there when you were born

So show me that you're still brave
And the whole world will do the same
We don't need any heroes to come and save the day (come and save the day)
Just show me that you're still brave (oh)

We were made of iron, we were made from steel
We were made of love but, it's the pain that makes us real
It's coming through the windows, but you're staring at the floor
You're walking through a fire, it was there when you were born

So show me that you're still brave
And the whole world will do the same
We don't need any heroes to come and save the day (come and save the day)
Just show me that you're still brave

Baby, there's nothing left to lose
Just get up and show 'em what you can do

So show me that you're still brave
And the whole world will do the same
We don't need any heroes to come and save the day (come and save the day)
Just show me that you're still brave