

Break My Heart Again

Danielle Bradbery

It's been 27 days since I saw you on the west side
I've been trying to find a way to get over that you're not mine
You were standing on the corner in the shirt I love
Same one you were wearing when you called it off
27 days since I saw you and I'm not fine

It's true
I should know better than falling for someone like you
One look at you and I'm all in, so

Break my heart again
Break my heart again
You could be gone in the morning
I wouldn't mind if it meant I got one more night
Love drunk on your skin, don't care where we've been
If I could have you in the end
I'd let you break my heart over and over again
Oh, no

It's so hard to be in love when I hate you at the same time
Stayed up after every fight just to make it, make it alright
Oh, my friends tell me you'll never be good for me
And every time, it kills me when you leave
It's so hard to be in love when you're feeling it from both sides, oh

It's true
I should know better than falling for someone like you
One look at you and I'm all in

Break my heart again
Break my heart again
You could be gone in the morning
I wouldn't mind if it meant I got one more night
Love drunk on your skin, don't care where we've been
If I could have you in the end
I'd let you break my heart over and over again
Oh, whoa...

Break my heart again
You could be gone in the morning
I wouldn't mind if it meant I got one more night
Love drunk on your skin, don't care where we've been
If I could have you in the end
I'd let you break my heart over and over again
Oh

Heart again
You could be gone in the morning
I wouldn't mind if it meant I got one more night
Love drunk on your skin, don't care where we've been
If I could have you in the end
I'd let you break my heart over and over again