

Picture This

Danity Kane

Picture this after a thousand words said we still couldn't understand what was in each others heads

Complete, content, sunrise to sunset so fly like stars you were everything I wish for

But yet you made time to speak your mind when I wasn't pleasing you

Took my love in vain I was bleeding

Lonely nights I held the pillow close wishing I was squeezing you

Its crazy we can only see the bad times when we're together and remember the good when we're apart

If we throw our love away does that bring us back to the start

Times heal all wounds but I can't rewind my heart

Is the flame not still there if seeing you ignites the spark

Picture this after a thousand words said
we could never understand what was in each others heads
