

You Are My Woman

Danko Jones

There was a time when I felt like I was all alone,
Then I met you and you turned my world to gold,
No need to say it, no need to turn away,
We have an understanding day by day,
All I need is to look into your eyes and I'm OK

When the world gets dark and the rain pours down,
And everyone passes you by,
Remember these words I say:

You are my woman
And I am your man
Without hesitation
I'll love you all I can

I was down thought I'd never have a chance at love,
Meeting you changed that we fit like a glove,

I don't know how I even kept up
I can't remember how I got so messed up
But you took me once and all
So let me respond in kind

When the world gets dark and the rain pours down,
And everyone passes you by
Remember these words I say:

You are my woman
And I am your man
Without hesitation
I'll love you all I can

You are my woman
And I am your man
No no no no no nobody
Nobody would understand

That the two of us got something special
Like a bond that can't be broken
Like a shield of protection
This bond of ours is unspoken

Every time I see your face
I always know my place
With my arms wrapped around you
And a kiss just in case

You are my woman
And I am your man
Without hesitation
I'll love you all I can

You are my woman
And I am your man
No no no no nobody
Nobody else gonna give a damn
