

Fallen King

Danny Vera

It's the red, white and blue ripped apart
A sour memory on the tip of your tongue

What was it all about
Where did it all go wrong
Or has this been this way all along

A bigger gap growing day by day
We kinda lost it somewhere along the way

All hail a fallen king
When kingdoms fall a new one rises again
All hail a fallen king
When kingdoms fall we're blaming everything but ourselves

When all the weapons are down, hands are high
Castles burned down to the ground
They claimed they fought for glory of the righteous men
But they know they were wrong, oh so wrong

A barren ground needs a fertile plan
So we can start all over again

All hail a fallen king
When kingdoms fall a new one rises again
All hail a fallen king
When kingdoms fall we're blaming everything but ourselves

A barren ground needs a fertile plan
So we can start all over again

All hail a fallen king
When kingdoms fall a new one rises again
All hail a fallen king
When kingdoms fall we're blaming everything

All hail a fallen king
When kingdoms fall a new one rises again
All hail a fallen king
When kingdoms fall we're blaming everything but ourselves
But ourselves
