

Lay You Down

Danny Vera

Tonight I started dreaming of a love that used to be
I think that it's all over
There's nothing left for me
But still I want another love that is so crazy Another love who turns me on A girl who stays beside me and never runs

Today will never find me
Yes, today is dead and gone
Tomorrow will do nothing
'Cause you won't come along
And now I want some else to make me happy
Who will make my demons run
I will find another angel and bring her home

I want to lay you down in my soul
I want to lay you down when the moon comes out and the stars be gin to shine
I want to make the right decision, maybe tonight you're no long er mine

I got a really funny feeling, that is trembling in my bones
It's a feeling deep inside me which every lover knows
But still I can't give an answer to this feeling
'Cause the question is unknown
I will find the right solution and carry on

I want to lay you down in my soul

I want to lay you down in my soul
I want to lay you down when the moon comes out and the stars be gin to shine
I want to make the right decision, maybe tonight you're no long
er mine

I want to lay you down in my soul