

Ordinary Man

Danny Vera

I'm trying to figure out what I have to know
To make your life complete, so you won't let go
Like Barry always sang, you are my everything
My first, my last and even my in-between

I thought I did alright, until you walked into my life

All I know is that I love you so
And I will do my best to get this message through
I just need a little time to get used to this life

Baby, in time, I know I'll find my way again
Maybe in time, I know how I'll learn to understand
And how to let down all my guards
I will do my best but I am not by far the best you'll ever have
I'm just a plain and simple ordinary man
Who thought he did alright, until you walked into his life

So please don't blame me if I should forget sometimes
The things that make me happy or the ones that make me cry
I just need a little time, to get used to this life

Baby, in time, I know I'll find my way again
Maybe in time, I know how I'll learn to understand
And how to let down all my guards
I will do my best but I am not by far the worst you've ever seen
'Cause I'm not jealous, I'm not cruel and I'm not mean

I thought I did alright, until you walked into my life

Baby, in time, I know I'll find my way again
Maybe in time, I know how I'll learn to understand
And how to let down all my guards
I will do my best, 'cause I'll stay where you are
