

Savior

Danny Worsnop

I slipped off,
I fell down,
I laid there with my back against the ground,
I reached out, all I found,
My own reflection floated up into the clouds.

You helped me out of my madness,
You pulled me out of my grave.

I'm alive
Breathing deeper than I've ever breathed before,
And I owe it all to you,
I'm coming home.

I found my heart, I thought it was dead and gone,
Safely in your hands and It'll stay there forever,
You keep me up, you keep me sane,
You taught me love, you saved me.

You helped me out of my madness,
You pulled me out of my grave.

I'm alive
Breathing deeper than I've ever breathed before,
And I owe it all to you,
I'm coming home.

The distance can't haunt us anymore,
I'm coming home.

I'm alive
Breathing deeper than I've ever breathed before,
And I owe it all to you,
I'm coming home.
