

Wait For Day

Dante Thomas

I wait for the day, hey love is a prisoner in a lonely room I'm standing here in a pool of tears trying to swim through the pain in this day of gloom trying to find my way what I wouldn't give to be with you again to watch you up and run away from me now I need to love breathe and set it free all I need is for you to be with me

wait for the day
when love will go right
wait for the day
til then I will fight
wait for the day
when you will see the light
wait for the day
wait for the day
tell me now tell me that you need a friend to shelter you from a cruel cruel world of abuse of addiction
I know you will if you work real hard I know you'll win if you're open to forgiveness then the heart can mend you don't need another fix to see a way through the pain I will set you free will you come home baby? come back to me

wait for the day
til then I will fight
wait for the day
wait for the day
wait for the day

wait for the day
until you come back my way oh baby wait for the day when you come back my way
oh when you come back my way come back, back my way
