

Circles

Dare

A child has come, destroying me
Footsteps on the sand
The sound is falling from my head
We turn the page, I understand

Across the Severn Sea, as I change the song
I live my life my way
And after all the loves of my life
You're still the one
You're still the one

We taste the tears of sorrow
We taste the joys of wine
The wind is blowing softly the trees my love
And who am I, and who are we?
Then I stand alone this mountainside
With my arms opened, opened wide
There is nowhere to run and hide
In the circles of my life
The circles of my life

We taste the tears of sorrow
We taste the joys of wine
The wind is blowing softly thru the trees my love
And who am I, and who are we?
Then I stand on this mountainside
With my arms open big and wide
There ain't nowhere to run and hide
In the circles, in the circles of my life

The circles of my life...