

Drowning in the worst of ourselves
Fuck

We've been living in the ocean
We always try to wash away our own sins
Pretending like we're all okay by minding our business
And hiding the sickness inside but it's all a disguise
Just floating in silence, ignoring the violence
This time the water's darkest just below the light

We just want to keep our head above water
Acting like we aren't always drifting farther down
Where you can't hear the sound of all the cries for help
Ignoring all the feelings that you've never felt
Drowning in the worst of ourselves

We've been going through the motions
We never want to reap what we've been sowing
We're stuck inside a river that's not flowing
We're stalling, pretend we're not going to die
I can see that the light is gone from your eyes

We just want to keep our head above water
Acting like we aren't always drifting farther down
Where you can't hear the sound of all the cries for help
Ignoring all the feelings that you've never felt
Drowning in the worst of ourselves

We know we can't stay
We're just floating away

We've been living in the ocean
We always try to wash away our own sins
Pretending like we're not keeping our head above water
Acting like we aren't always drifting farther down
Where you can't hear the sound of all the cries for help
Ignoring all the feelings that you've never felt

We just want to keep our head above water
(We've been living in the ocean)
We just want to keep our head above water
(We've been going through the motions)
Drowning in the worst of ourselves
