

Through Ages of War

Dark Fortress

Black void
Nothing seen, emptiness reigns
Where worlds collide

Across the oceans of time
I sail
Across the oceans of time

The tides of fate have carried me to battles of past and future
I have fought in every war
Claimed heads and blades as bounty from the warlords I've killed
I have fought in every war

The barbarian lord in the eastern plains - Attila was his name
I pried his axe from his cold and stiff fingers
To be my weapon of choice forevermore
Dschingis Khan, Alexander the Great, King Richard of England
All of them dead - killed by my hand

Across the oceans of time
I sail
Across the oceans of time

In the heart of every bloodbath I have slaughtered and destroyed
Cleaving open wounds so deep, tearing flesh off bones
Splitting skulls and taking fame

(1099, the taking of Jerusalem)