

The Eternal Eclipse

Dark Funeral

And since the day I left the burning field of the abyss I've been alone and wandering through the world in darkness I've never thought of turning back and every step I take is leading me towards my final breath of air I was alive to see the world erupt in flames and brimstone as the judgement day swept clean all the lands Humanity was doomed to die and the remnants that were left, they would forever hide in shame

Towards the end
The world will again
Deform and transcend
The eternal eclipse

As we reach the end
No man will again Reform or amend
For the Apocalypse

And when the sun turned black all weater froze to ice and all remaining life was sent into the great unknown I was alone, the king of kings but nothing was left there to rule and nothing was there to destroy I saw that day, that joyful day I conquered all then walked away and now wait for my demise Oh soon to come my glorious death and I will be the last to leave for the world will be returned to the night

Towards the end
My world will again
Deform and transcend
The eternal eclipse

As we reach the end, no man will again Reform or amened for the apocalypse

The world will again
Deform and transcend
The world will again...

The eternal eclipse
