

nothing of a man was he his true face of sleep a deception fell through all the way to the bottom learned to hold again we vowed not to hold sacred but to damn that hollow gaze unsteady on these shorelines mute to an unthought scream another word fell silent like the static in their eyes against all fleeing logic we let our minds go
blank
why define ourselves by misguiding light? how can we receive the static in their eyes each blink of light an accuser each unlit shape an assassin crawled the outer rim with his back exposed the shadows unending fought off the stares
again we vowed not to hold sacred
but to damn that hollow gaze
unsteady on these shorelines
mute to an unthought scream
another word fell silent
like the static in their eyes
against all fleeing logic
we let our minds go
blank
nullify the ego, stay right back stay right back how can we receive the static?
fear that strangles spirit denial speaks the truth
fear that strangles spirit crushes me and you wicked are the senses, wicked are the words give me the static
again we vowed not to hold sacred
but to damn that hollow gaze
unsteady on these shorelines
mute to an unthought scream
another word fell silent
like the static in their eyes
against all fleeing logic
we let our minds go
blank