Death Worship

Darkest Hour

I'm in denial of existence drifting over to the other side Of an endless horizon Crossed out and driven by desire Feeding the fire until O death pull me closer to your cold embrace With such grace you keep driving the same stake Straight through the heart And I can't stop from always thinking This is not our time and not our place A notorious devotion to the blood of the earth Rushing back to your head Now we all Pay our respects to the oncoming fall Bow before The dead memory of the reoccurred O death pull me closer to your cold embrace With such grace you keep driving the same stake Straight through the Heart of us all And we are the fall So don't reach out your hands In this false promised land Over and over, over and over Again with the promise of an end coming closer Fate is disquise It's the ultimate lie of life Yeah fate is disquise It's the ultimate lie