

Right When It Rains

Darwin Deez

I had a good night
You say to your porch light
My thumb is pinned to your chin, and your half grin is reeling me in Like the wheels of an airplane, an inch from the runway
And your eyes, open wide, like a rip tide
I kiss you goodbye
And it feels so right
Yeah, it feels so right

Right when it rains
I want to be soaking wet in Somerset
This summer let's dance in the storm
If lighting strikes I'm ready for it
See, my shoes already off
Shampoo's already frothin' and I'm warm
The least I'll do is race you down the window pane
Cause it feels right when it rains

Making my way home, through layers of gray foam
Like it's Halloween, or a dream
There's enough steam, to straighten my jeans
On the sparkling sidewalk, the crickets and I talk
They advise me, the sky's, gonna baptize, whoever is outside
But it feels so right
Yeah, it feels so right

Right when it rains
I want to be soaking wet in Somerset
This summer let's go dance in the storm
If lighting strikes I'm ready for it
See, my shoes already off
Shampoo's already frothin' and I'm warm
The least I'll do is race you down the window pane
Cause it feels right when it rains

Good, good people in bad weather
Go together
Love is a landslide
I'm fallin', I can't hide
Come splash in the mud

I want to be soaking wet in Somerset
This summer let's go dance in the storm
If lighting strikes I'm ready for it
See, my shoes already off
Shampoo's already frothin' and I'm warm
Warm when it rains

I want to be soaking wet in Somerset
This summer let's dance in the storm
If lighting strikes I'm ready for it
See, my shoes already off
Shampoo's already frothin' and I'm warm
The least I'll do is race you down the window pane
Cause it feels right when it rains
