

Gravity

Daughtry

Escape the noise to find a voice
What kind of sound that I need
Life in a familiar place
What fills the void that we need?

Breathing with no air
Can't hear my echoes
When I scream out, I'm craving gravity
I'm like a shipwreck inside
Stranded with no land in sight
I need an anchor, my gravity

Even though I'm not in the same sun when I fall
Don't have to be miles apart if you're here in my heart
I can feel your love from a different place, it's okay
Don't have to be miles apart if you're here in my heart

Embrace the strange, whose to say
I don't belong here anyway?
Passed and by or visiting
I could get you soothings

Breathing with no air
Can't hear my echoes
When I scream out, I'm craving gravity

Even though I'm not in the same sun when I fall
Don't have to be miles apart if you're here in my heart
I can feel your love from a different place, it's okay
Don't have to be miles apart if you're here in my heart
Don't have to be miles apart if you're here in my heart

(I'm like a shipwreck inside; stranded with no land in sight)
Don't have to be miles apart if you're here in my heart
(I'm like a shipwreck inside; stranded with no land in sight)
Don't have to be miles apart if you're here
