

Honey, I'm Coming Home

Dave Barnes

Baby, leave the key on the porch tonight
I'll be coming home before the morning light
Don't you worry baby, it'll be alright
Honey, I'm coming home

I'm tired of skylines
I'm tired of missing you
And all these goodbyes
No, they just won't do
First California
Then Santa Fe
I'm counting sunsets
'Til I see your pretty face

Baby, leave the key on the porch tonight
I'll be coming home before the morning light
Don't you worry baby, it'll be alright
Honey, I'm coming home

Put on some makeup
A little red dress too
If you can stay up
We can have a midnight rendezvous

Baby, leave the key on the porch tonight
I'll be coming home before the morning light
Don't you worry baby, it'll be alright
Honey, I'm coming home

Every night when I fall asleep
Baby, I'm dreaming of you
(Baby, I'm dreaming of you)
I can't take another minute away
Another second baby just won't do

Baby, leave the key on the porch tonight
I'll be coming home before the morning light
Don't you worry baby, it'll be alright
Honey, I'm coming home

Baby, leave the key on the porch tonight
I'll be coming home before the morning light
Don't you worry baby, it'll be alright
Honey, I'm coming home
Honey, I'm coming home
Honey, I'm coming home
