

Heart

David Choi

This man, is hard to understand
Living life the best that I can
But behind this curtain of mine
There's so much more than meets the eye
Do you realize behind this tough and rigid skin
There's something deep down inside

I have a heart too
That can break and melt
Like everybody else
I have a heart too
That can be loved
That wants to be loved
By you

I would assume you feel the same as I do
And I really do try my best, to be there for you
It's my job to guard your heart and keep you close
You know that I would never ever let you go
I'll put my pride aside, and be the man of your life
And my hope is that you'll understand

I have a heart too
That can break and melt
Like everybody else
I have a heart too
That can be loved
That wants to be loved
By you

All I want is for you to Give me your hand
Can you feel my heart beating?

I have a heart too
That can break and melt
Like everybody else
I have a heart too
That can be loved
That wants to be loved
By you