

The Lucky Ones

David Cook

I feel your pulse steady like an 808
It keeps driving like a semi on the interstate
Swerving left and right, coloring outside the lines
We gotta get before the getting's late

I see the moon living in the rear-view mirror
And every sign sayin' baby there ain't nothing here
So tell me everything, I'll be your amphetamine
I'll be the whisper living in your ear

Life's a little better living upside down
Hangin' from the heavens trying to touch the ground
Yeah we're the lucky ones
Yeah we're the lucky ones
Our hearts keeping beating to the city lights
Racing ever forward, never hit rewind
Now we're the lucky ones
Yeah we're the lucky ones

So be the blood rushing right into my brain
As your oxygen begins to take my breath away
It's just me and you, everything is turning blue
Let's find each other in the fadeaway

Life's a little better living upside down
Hangin' from the heavens trying to touch the ground
Yeah we're the lucky ones
Yeah we're the lucky ones
Our hearts keeping beating to the city lights
Racing ever forward, never hit rewind
Now we're the lucky ones
Yeah we're the lucky ones

Life's a little better living upside down
Hangin' from the heavens trying to touch the ground
Yeah we're the lucky ones

Life's a little better living upside down
Hangin' from the heavens trying to touch the ground
Yeah we're the lucky ones
Yeah we're the lucky ones
Our hearts keeping beating to the city lights
Racing ever forward, never hit rewind
Now we're the lucky ones
Yeah we're the lucky ones
