

Sing Loud

David Dunn

You can hear it from the rooftops
It's the sound of sweet relief
As the prison doors swing open
All of the people rise and sing

They're singing
(Oooh)
They're singing
(Oooh)

So sing, sing loud
So everyone hears us
When we all shout
No one ignores us
So we'll sing, sing out, sing loud
(Oooh)
So sing, sing out, sing loud

Then the darkness tries to choke us
And tries to tell us who to be
But if forgotten to remember
That we were bought at calvary

We're singing
(Oooh)
We're singing
(Oooh)

So sing, sing loud
So everyone hears us
When we all shout
No one ignores us
So we'll sing, sing out, sing loud
(Oooh)
So sing, sing out, sing loud

There's a world full of so many voices
That have never been heard, heard, heard, heard
For apathy, he has made himself a leader
And in a silent world we turn, turn, turn, turn

There's a world full of so many voices
That have never been heard, heard, heard, heard
For apathy, he has made himself a leader
And in a silent world we turn, turn, turn turn

(Oooh)
They won't know
(Oooh)
Unless we tell them so
(Oooh)
They gotta know, they gotta know

So sing, sing loud
So everyone hears us
When we all shout
No one ignores us

So sing, sing out
So everyone hears us
When we all shout
No one ignores us
So sing, sing out and sing loud
(Oooh)
So sing, sing out, sing loud

There's a world full of so many voices...
