

She Is the Sunlight

David Hodges

If all the flowers
Faded away
If all the storm clouds
Decided to stay
Then you would find me
Each hour the same
She is tomorrow
And I am today
If right is leaving
I'd rather be wrong
She is the sunlight
When the sun is gone
If loving her is
Heartache for me
And if holding her means
That I have to bleed
Then I am the martyr
Love is to blame
Cause she is the healing
And I am the pain
She lives in a daydream
Where I don't belong
Cause she is the sunlight
When the sun is gone
And it will take
This life of regret
For my heart
To learn to forget
Tomorrow will be
As it always has been
And I will fall
To her again
For I know
I have come too close
If right is leaving
I'd rather be wrong
Cause she is the sunlight
And the sun is gone
She is the sunlight
And the sun is gone