David Usher

Just another afternoon and I'm choking down tea for two When you've flown so far away, and you know I'm waiting When the consequence of rage comes crashing through the living room floor

When I thought id found a life, seems I've been mistaken So I'll take the paid holiday, but I just can't set foot on the plane

Well your voice gets in the way, guess I'll drive cross country

I see you fall I see you fall,
I've never seen you look so beautiful well my suits been pressed and cleaned
And I've never seen you people before
Well we'll wander through the town
And we'll sing our sad songs
As I lower you into the ground
And you've never seen these people before
With the bullets falling all around
And they sing their sad songs

I see you fall I see you fall, I've never seen you look so beau tiful

I just keep moving, I see you watching
I see you waving from the window
And I think I'm falling
Just keep driving
There is nothing to forgive now

And I see you fall I see you fall I've never seen you look so beautiful hold on, hold on, hold on.....
