

Again

Day1

There I go again
Breaking your heart, left in the dark
Two worlds apart
There I go again
Stuck in the streets, I know
It's bad for me, I know you wanna leave

I know you filling up with pain
'Cause I'm stuck in this game
And there's no one else to blame except myself, it's strange

And I cannot feel the pain of you wanting me to change
And I know you can't stand the way you feel, so

There I go again, breaking your heart
There I go again, breaking your heart
There you go again, breaking my heart
There you go again, breaking my heart
There you go again, there you go again
Breaking my heart
There you go again, there you go again

There I go again
Breaking your heart, left in the dark
Two worlds apart
There I go again
Stuck in the streets, I know
It's bad for me, I know
You wanna leave

There I go again
Trap to get a Benz
You tell me
That's there more to life than selling
I can't change for the money I'm getting

All I knew in life's, rebelling
In this way of life, there's no telling
'Specially if your guys commit felons
Some of them are locked, but that's some lessons

There I go again, breaking your heart
There I go again, breaking your heart
There you go again, breaking my heart
There you go again, breaking my heart
There you go again
There you go again, breaking my heart
There you go again
There you go again