

Left Me Yet

Daya

Bad at sorries
Good at finding places
I don't belong
Where I don't belong
You hold your tongue
And light another blunt
When you know I'm wrong
When you know I'm wrong

I feel so lucky
When you say that you love me
'Cause I know I'm not worthy
Every time
You always forgive me
And you say that you miss me
Never hold it against me

I get mad
I hide things and say things I can't take back
I push you away, why do I do that
Impatient, but you're patient with me
I'm surprised you haven't left me yet

Everybody's
Looking at you but
You're looking at me
The more you see
Keep me safe
You always stay awake
When I can't sleep
When I can't sleep

I feel so lucky
When you say that you love me
'Cause I know I'm not worthy
Every time
You always forgive me
And you say that you miss me
Never hold it against me

I get mad
I hide things and say things I can't take back
I push you away, why do I do that
Impatient, but you're patient with me
I'm surprised you haven't left me yet

I get mad
I hide things and say things I can't take back
I push you away, why do I do that
Impatient, but you're patient with me
And I'm surprised you haven't left me yet

I get mad
I break things, mistake things, my temper's bad
But you're still here with me, why do you do that?
Impatient, but you're patient with me

I get mad
I hide things and say things I can't take back
I push you away, why do I do that
Impatient, but you're patient with me
I'm surprised you haven't left me yet

I get mad
I hide things and say things I can't take back
I push you away, why do I do that
Impatient, but you're patient with me
And I'm surprised you haven't left me yet