

Into Blue

Dayglow

I only feel like I'm losing you
Even when you're here in my arms
And even when I'm holding you close, my dear
I still don't know where you are
I only feel like I'm losing you
Even when you tell me you'll stay
Even when I know that I'm home again
You feel so far away

There's nothing new that I could do
The sun is turning to the moon
The light is fading into blue
Into the night

I only feel like I'm losing you
Even when you say that I'm not
And even though it's not like it used to be
Everything else you forgot
And don't say it never was legit
It's still nice to remember it
And I'm better now because of it
But I'm moving on

There's nothing new that I could do
The sun is turning to the moon
The light is fading into blue
Into the night