

Mindless Creatures

Dayglow

Remember when I could barely believe in it?
Staring up at the ceiling fan, nothing ever would happen then
Now, look at where we are now, whether if you believed in it
Everything from the ceiling fan suddenly became different

So I'm setting up everything in the living room
Headed into the promised land
Maybe everything that I need is everything I already had Held it in the palm of my hand
Everything from the ceiling fan is gonna have to be different

But way back when, in my days
It was so different, not as crazy
Now, all I see are just mindless creatures
And everybody wants something else, something more
They want less of me keeping score
And I can't keep up, looking over my shoulder

If only I could just see myself, thought I'd believe it
Thought I'd be somebody else by now
By now, by now

Remember when I was barely beginning it?
Holding on to the feeling, if somebody was just listening
Then everything would be better now
I keep looking for something else to feel the way I already felt
Before it all became different

Oh, but way back when, in my days
It was so different, not as crazy
Now, all I see are just mindless creatures
And everybody wants something else, something more
They want less of me keeping score
And I can't keep up from looking over my shoulder

If only I could just see myself, thought I'd believe it
Thought I'd be somebody else by now
By now, by now
By now

If I take my time, would it go away?
I could see myself like it was yesterday
Yeah, I was just eighteen with a fuzzy brain
What am I doing here?

If only I could just see myself, thought I'd believe it
Thought I'd be somebody else by now
Oh, now, now, I feel it, oh, now, now, I feel it
Oh, now, now, I feel it, oh, now, now, I feel it
Oh, now, now, I feel it, okay, now, now, I feel it
Oh, now, now, I feel it, oh, now, now, I feel it
Oh, now, now, I feel it, oh, now, now, I feel it

'Cause way back when, in my days
It was so different, not as crazy
Now, all I see are just mindless creatures
And everybody wants something else, something more

They want less of me keeping score
And I can't keep up from looking over my shoulder

If only I could just see myself, thought I'd believe it
Thought I'd be somebody else by now
By now, by now