

At A Loss

Daylight Dies

Awaken
A broken voice
Breaths of anguish drown the words
Welling at my throat

The sky ablaze with stars unchanging
The callous stare of a world unyielding

A whisper
A passing sound
All trace of you removed from here
But these longing words