

DBS Out

Days N' Daze

"I wish we were leaving tomorrow," you'll say
And I really can't blame you
'Cause I hate to stay in the same place too long
I swear it drives me insane
The smell of the air, the roads and the people
Become too familiar
No longer exciting to me
That's annoying, I just have to get away

The monotony is killing you, it's killing me
So what to do
Jump in the car and drive away
We'll worry about gasoline later
When we're broken down on interstate ten west
Cause I just cannot stand it here for any longer
And I fear that if I stay for one more day
I'll fire bomb this fucking place
So I better go cause I don't want to go to jail
Cause that place fucking sucks

And what if when we get back
To this town everything is different
All those familiar places
We once loved no longer exist
Well at least I'll still have you and you'll have me
That's all we need

I'm not saying that we're old
I just don't feel that we're still young
After all this time that we've been lost
So go for broke and fuck tomorrow
Cheat and steal and beg and borrow
Never even contemplate the cost

And we'll sing
Whoa whoa whoa
Whoa whoa whoa

And what if when we get back
To this town everything is different
All those friendly faces
Faded off into the distance
Well at least I'll still have you and you'll have me
That's all we need
