

Perpetuate Rigorous Ghost

Days of the New

Open the door, hey
Though I heard this voice before
When I didn't listen to the voice I heard then
I must be lying through my ears
Faced with those tempting years
Where I had a little thought
And big my head became
And I just lied to you [x2]
Please just forgive me for my sins today
Please bear with me while I give in
I've been tucked in/away
When does the truth live? When does the lies die? [x2]
No, oh, when do they die?
You've got that journey in your head
Just be glad that you're not dead, you're still alive
Join them when they sing
Serenity they bring from the light so bright
I've been a creature in the night
But now I'm standing with the sun
Just hope you ain't have too much fun