

Nostalgia

Dayshell

You were looking kinda funny with that heart on your sleeve
As if you're asking for dramatic occasions
Well, I hate to beg your pardon and I don't mean to preach
Your ass is asking for dramatic invasions

You better bend before I come alive
Awake me from this paradox
You better bend before I come alive
Awake me from this paradox

Hey, why you wear that face so low
Hey, is there something I should know
Why you wear that face so low

Take a second to get back on your feet
Your mouth is moving but the words, they don't sound right
You're talking up the story, seek, assist and defeat
Your darkness never felt or looked so bright

You better bend before I come alive
Awake me from this paradox

You better bend before I come alive
Awake me from this paradox

Hey, why you wear that face so low
Hey, is there something I should know
Why you wear that face so low

You better bend before I come alive
Awake me from this paradox
You better bend before I come alive
Awake me from this paradox

Hey, be what you wanna be
A silly love song
Never too late, it's alright

Yeah
Yeah
It's alright

Hey, why you wear that face so low
Hey, is there something I should know
Why you wear that face so low

You better bend before I come alive
Awake me from this paradox
You better bend before I come alive
Awake me from this paradox