

I alone know the truth of who I am
Staring back from the path I chose, silent
I know, I know now what I really want in this life
I need more in this life
Because I feel so alone
I need more than this
I crave more than this

I know I'm chasing something I can find home in Feel the beat of my heart in
Find my soul in it

Standing
Back to the life I chose
I am staring afraid now of what my future is
But I know, I know now what I really want in this life
I need more in this life

I know I'm chasing something I can find home in
See the turn in my arc now
With the fear of my path now
So I go with it

My path of resistance
I am scared as I crawl
I feel I'm past my point of comfort
It starts; the beat is heart-like, faint
I'm scared of the drum
Faceless, now I stand here alone
Helpless, give myself to it all as I fall in Here I come
I know I am worthy enough

I know I'm chasing something I can find home in
Think of all that I've been through Every scar that I've grown through
There is nothing to fear now
I am ready for change now
To find my soul in it

I know, I know now what I really want in this life
I need more in this life