A Miss Of You

Dead Moon

I used to be so, so down I thought I had been changed So when I found you were running around I too tried to play that game I know the way now This time it won't take long

We used to run around two by two We tried to break our hearts And in the mornin' when the corners are jaded I too began to fall apart

So if I seem unable to cope It's for a miss of you If what we were was only for once You were always worth the view
