Point of No Return

Dead Moon

I used to ride the world thinking I could do no wrong
I used to feel that I could fall and still get on You've got a way about you girl I don't understand
How you can turn a crowd and still care who I am

I'll walk the fire with you 'till the point of no return

I used to press my eyes into the looking glass
It always seemed to see the future from the past
Your only halfway there before you realize
You need to take a look into this strangers eyes

I'll walk the fire with you 'till the point of no return

Within a race for courage the clouds were breaking down
We left nothing behind and nowhere to turn around
I had to hold you close just to make it through the night
And we closed our eyes to all the things that might

I'll walk the fire with you 'till the point of no return
