Bastard Set Of Dreams

Dead To Fall

Take your schemes and your idle screams To an audience who doesn't care what they mean From what we've built, take what you need To serve a bastard set of dreams Sell your image, and market your heart Capital gain, until it falls apart A thousand open ears, and still not a word to say