

Voice Inside Your Head

Dead!

So finish fucking run
What am I doing in here
Well I don't know half of the names
Of the places or people I've seen this year
Remember when you wrote me of?
You let go of the rope
That you kept around my neck
When I try to speak, I just choke

On every word I ever said
Now I am nothing but a stranger that lives inside your head

Now I am here, perfectly torn
Between the fear of you and moving on
I let you go, you never thought I would
You put money on me, your money on me
And lost it all because you could

Said all I could, but it was never enough
Well I'm on my way to my [?] to patch things up
But all I got was a blank stare
When your head told your heart there was nothing left in here
This empty room, will crumble and fall
When you rode away like we never existed at all

Now I am here, perfectly torn
Between the fear of you and moving on
I let you go, you never thought I would
You put money on me, your money on me
And lost it all because you could

Because you could

Now I am here, perfectly torn
Between the fear of you and moving on
I let you go, you never thought I would
You put money on me, your money on me
And lost it all because you could
All because you could
All because you could

Now I am here, perfectly torn
Between the fear of you and moving on
I let you go, you never thought I would
You put money on me, your money on me
And lost it all because you could