

Find Your Own Light

DeadLock

I raise my eyes towards heaven and try to reach the sun cause having caught one sunbeam it's warmth will resurrect me but suddenly clouds appear clouds cover the sun my world is cold again my heart is cold again my body is frozen again with every day you leave me standing in the cold I build up a warmth deep in my heart and sooner or later the day will come on which I create my own sun
my heart my sun will be shining all day without sunrise or sun set an eternal light and you shall never be able to sleep nights I take a look inside myself and try to reach for my own sun sunbeams deep inside me and now their warmth can resurrect me my sun in all its splendour from the bottom of my heart will c ast some light on your track but can you find your own way back now it's up to you not to get lost