

Always You

Dean Brody

Love's a funny thing
It made me insane
Girl I've lost it over you
You can ask my friends
I ain't been the same
Since you and I entered the same room

Do you ever think of a white picket fence?
Toys in the hallway, puppies in bed
Cause since I met you girl it's all I do
Swing on the porch, an afternoon sun
Holding your hand watching them run
Home from the bus saying I love you mom
Can you see it too?
Yeah, it's all alive in my mind but to come true
I need you, I need you
It was always you

With you by my side
We can paint the sky blue
Even through the stormy days
And I promise I'll
Always make you smile
When the kids are gone and we are old and gray, oh

Do you ever think of a white picket fence?
Toys in the hallway, puppies in bed
Cause since I met you girl it's all I do
Swing on the porch, an afternoon sun
Holding your hand watching them run
Home from the bus saying I love you mom
Can you see it too?
Yeah, it's all alive in my mind but to come true
Oh, I need you, I need you
It was always you, yeah, girl

Swing on the porch, an afternoon sun
Swing on the porch, an afternoon sun
Holding your hand watching them run
Home from the bus saying I love you mom
Can you see it too?
Yeah, it's all alive in my mind but to come true
Girl, I love my life, every little thing you do
I need you, I need you
It was always you
Yeah, girl you, I need you
It was always you, girl, yeah, you
Oh-oh, oh, oh
