

Empire

Dean Lewis

Say something darling
I need your voice
To guide me through all of the noise
But you need to bloom
All by yourself

It just hurts that you don't need my help
Like the rain falls through cracks in the asphalt
In time a new flower will grow
And if ever the wind blows
And breaks all your windows
Just know that my heart is your home

Even though you're gone
I'm still holding on
More than you could know
And even though it's wrong
You're still all I want
I feel so alone
I feel so alone
So alone

The things I would do to make amends
But all that I do's make a mess
It's better to leave you in my head
I don't want to feel again

It's the fall of an empire
The wind spreads the blue fire
There's some things we just can't control

Even though you're gone
I'm still holding on
More than you could know

And even though it's wrong
You're still all I want
I feel so alone
I feel so alone
So alone

So alone
So alone
Mmm-mm
