

It's Raining Again

Dean Ray

Hey, Melissa Jane, how have you been?
Staring blank-faced at the wall, I think of you again
Better get my life together, darling just you wait
Change your clothes, a summer rose, I'll take you on a date
Then again what am I thinking, I heard just yesterday
You met a man, he took your hand, and stole your heart away

And it's raining again
It's raining again
You're flooding through my mind like the water in the mile
And the sunshine state ain't sunshine anymore

Hey, Melissa Jane, for you I sing this song
It's crossed my mind from time to time, I know it's been too long
But I pray that in a short while time will take me there
To find the sun and kiss you underneath the summer air

And it's raining again
And it's raining again
You're flooding through my mind like the water in the mile
And the sunshine state ain't sunshine anymore
And the sunshine state ain't sunshine anymore
