

Digital Dream

Deap Vally

In a post-apocalyptic world in 2068
I sit and watch the scenery
Who do I choose, who's on my team, who will taste my golden cream
Or do I even need a connection

In a sea of a million wonders where nobody has the will to lie
I surrender in a sigh
They wiped out my identity, there is no freedom to fight for
It's a given now

We never live, we never die, there is no why
We're ones and zeros, there's no heroes, not a crime

My brain is now a machine that has no singularity
The dust has settled, I haven't
And years after the kryptonite our fingers touch and do not type
My eyes are no more corrupted

I linger, oh I love it here
I dreamt about it my whole life
This is my legacy in case I die

I'd like to think there is somebody by my side
Not just a robot, a computer, or a wire
And it's so lonely here, so lonely I could scream
It's cold and dark in here, if only I could swim

Lost in a digital dream, am I real
Lost in a digital dream, am I real
Lost in a digital dream, am I real
Lost in a digital dream, am I real
Lost in a digital dream, am I real
Lost in a digital dream, am I real
Lost in a digital dream...
