Death Angel

Lost

Can anybody hear me now A cruel land's fallen son Pleading to the skies above Forgive me please for what I've done

The only truth is death they claim I chose to gift that lie Force feeding truth to so many My eyes as I watched them die

Train me, then blame me I bought myself into this game Mold me, Then scold me I'll never be the same

If only you could see me now I broke a dark one side twisted vow You take a poor, broke, lost, and stolen soul And simply throw his soul away

Believe me when I tell you now They mold the truth, and turn it upside down It took me years to see, and come this far And still I feel so lost today

Will anybody save me now Exposed I stand alone A prisoner in my own body No place really feels like home

I've grown to see the wrong I've done And I cannot shake this pain So I close my eyes, and let it go With one final breathe of shame

Train me, then blame me I bought into this game Mold me, Then scold me I'll never be the same

If only you could see me now I broke a dark one sided twisted vow You take a poor, broke, lost, and stolen soul And simply throw his soul away

Believe me when I tell you now They mold the truth, and turn it upside down It took me years to see, and come this far And still I feel so lost today

Rain down on me And wash this pain away Rain down on me And wash this pain away
