

Another Day

Death Before Dishonor

As I walk down this path of hate from my mind I cannot justify this no more to go on and try to make my mind a happy place I find that's a disgrace I have no love for pleasure brought pain into reign

I can't see through my own filth always come to nothing in this living hell fury is what I have for the ones who put me here emptiness explains my existence in this god-forsaken world another day as I walk alone another day as I walk alone through this madness there's no escape no way out there's no escape from this hell

I can never face you for what you've done to me you showed me no respect you fked me over fury is what I have for the ones that put me here emptiness explains my existence in this god-forsaken world